Question No. 1: Will there be any quality control/testing and inspection needs on this project? If so, will the testing agency be retained by the county or the contractor?

Answer No. 1 The Contractor is responsible for their own inspections. WRA will perform a “punch out” inspection and a final inspection as the Owner’s Representative. As stated in the specifications, Section 35 51 13, Prefabricated Pier, Gangway, and Dock, a prefabricated modular floating pier and gangway is specified. Therefore, any welding and such for the modular pieces should be inspected/provided by the manufacturer. If there is any welding required on site during installation, the Contractor would be required to provide those inspections. The electrical installation will be inspected by Anne Arundel County as part of the electrical permit.
